ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An internet protocol (IP) address management method and system are disclosed, having a switch unit that searches for an idle IP address in a database for allocation to an internet connection system. The internet connection system and the switch unit interconnect a subscriber to an IP service network.